Big Minstrel Show Main Attractions of Splendid Triumph May Fete Secret

St. Margaret's Troupe Many Features Will Lure Scores Another Success Narberthites to Y. M. C. A.

Three nights next year, with double rates for those who repeat, would seem to be the only way out of it, for it was a great shame to turn them away in such a ruthless manner. And where didn't they come from? The Borough turned out en masse, the trains brought scores, whilst the automobiles which were piled on all the adjacent avenues afforded a perspective of the shipyards in bellicose days. "Narberth-via-London" was truly a wonderful success. Particularly complimentary was the presence of a number of the Mask and Wig men at the Thursday night performance, and every mother's son of them stayed to the last horn's blow. And, more than that, they all agreed that they would come again.

From start to finish the show was a splendid triumph and generous appreciation must be accorded the men who applied themselves so steadfastly to furnish Narberth with a high-grade, finished performance. Neither should the fact be left unrecorded that the wives of the players, with absolutely no exception, made no complaints of any kind whatsoever regarding the continuous absence of their talented husbands. With one acclaim they all lamented that there were not eight or ten nights in the week, instead of only 7, which could be devoted to rehearsals, and it was indeed a beautiful tribute to their devoted helpmates when the entire troupe rose up as a body in indignant protest against the cruel cynicism of that alleged joke which was intended to be used only because this year marked its golden anniversary.

"Bones, do you think a married couple could ever live without quarreling?"

"Yes, if they live apart." Repeating his effective direction of last year's show, Clarence Gallagher kept the opening part hitting on all cylinders with never a miss, and all the numbers proceeded with a verve and a snap that were irresistible. The comedy of the end went off with a bang and the audience paid hearty homage to Ed. McNally, a newcomer in the east, who knocked them in the northeast corner in big league fashion. His singing of "In Our Parlor" straightaway put him on the list of regulars. The hilarious reception accorded Bill Kerrigan and Walter Case indicated the manner in which they had registered in "Nellie-Narberth," and if there were no other reason to give a Minstrel Show, certainly the capacity of these men to drive dull care away would afford one. Bill's rendition of Barney Google will long be remembered, whilst Walter's "You Tell Her, I Stutter," eclipsed the best performance of this song which has been observed in these parts.

The troupe is unusually fortunate in including in its membership singers of the high calibre of Henry Carr, Joe McGarrity, Fred Hipkiss, Jack Kelly and Sebastian Rudolph, each one of them rendering a selection which was a delight and a joy to the numerous audiences. The quartette renditions were particularly effective, although it must be said, for the sake of an accurate record, that there seemed to be a bit of lawlessness in the Juniper Tar quartette. From where the scribe sat, it appeared to be occurring right about the center.

Charlie Chain and Allie Miller carried off stellar honors as the Radio Girls, injecting in their lines furious fusillades of fire and fun which kept the house in an uproar. Their ineffable costumes aroused the envy of every woman present and in response to many inquiries received at the Editor's Office, "Our Town" has ascertained positively that no part of the lingerie which was displayed belonged to either Mrs. Chain or Mrs. Miller. The source of its supply is as much a mystery to these ladies as it is to anyone else, and any information regarding the matter will be very gratefully received by them.

The big hit of Ohio was Joe Kelly, who disported with great glee in long-legged legerdemain. The bewilderment of the audience started when it first beheld him in his much-heralded coat of varied hues, with its quite na-

Baseball Today

The first game of Narberth's baseball season will be played on the home field this afternoon.

The game will be with the East Camden Professionals, and will be called at 3.30 P. M. Daylight Saving Time. It will be played on the South Side field, below Rockland avenue.

Next Tuesday, May 8th, the first twilight game will be staged, when Narberth meets the Ivy Professionals at the local grounds. This game will start at 6.15 P. M. On Wednesday next the team journeys to Philadelphia to play the Kaywood team, who will come out to Narberth on Thursday night to play us a return game at 6.15.

That means three local games within a week; today, Tuesday and Thursday. Samuel Wisler, Business Manager, is looking some unusually fine attractions for these games. He says: "We have a good team, and ought to win, but if we get licked, we will get beaten proper, for we are up against some real outfits."

And that is a satisfaction. We beat some mighty good aggregations last year, and it is much more interesting to shoot at elephants than sparrows. In any case, whether we are on top, bottom, or halfway between, Narberth's 4000 baseball fans are going to see a series of scrappy contests this season.

BUSY

The spring epidemic of fires has continued during the past week, and the company has been called out a number of times.

On Tuesday of last week a call was received from the residence of John Caldwell, on the south side.

Someone had let a backyard fire get away from him, and the house and garage were threatened. This was soon extinguished.

Three hours of work were necessary to conquer a fire in the woods at Wynnewood Manor last Wednesday.

A number of houses were in danger. Among the large number of other field fires was one last week when a lady routed out the company at 5.30 A. M.

She said she had seen a field on fire from her window, and thought she had better call up the company and let them know!

DE RITIS RECITAL MAY 8

The audience which so enjoyed hearing Sig. Carlo De Ritis, the Italian Operatic Baritone, at the first Choral concert of this season, will have an opportunity of hearing him in recital on Tuesday evening, 8.30 P. M. (Daylight Saving Time) May 8, at the Bellevue-Stratford Ball Room.

Sig. De Ritis has sung the leading baritone roles in many of the grand operas, and has a repertoire of over 30 operas. He has real traditional interpretation, and entirely loses himself in depicting his different themes to his audience. His many admirers heard him in recital last season, and this program arranged for the 8th is the outcome of numerous requests for a concert this season.

Sig. De Ritis is an artist pupil of Prof. Niece's, at whose request the baritone sang at Narberth a few months ago.

One very interesting feature of this recital will be the rendition of the arias by De Ritis on the following list, which receive the largest number of requests:

Africana, Andrea Chenier, Barbieri Di Siviglia, Carmen, Christoforo Colombo, Don Carlos, Don Giovanni, Ernani, Falstaff, Faust, Favorita, Fedora, Forza Del Destino, Gioconda, Hamlet, Jewels of the Madonna, Masked Ball, Otello, Pagliacci, Re Di Lahore, Rigoletto, Traviata, Zaza.

Tickets are $1.00, $1.50 and up, and can be secured by phoning Narberth 627 W.

Choral in Big Open Air Concert

Other Activities of Local Musical Body

On Saturday evening, June 2, at the Bryn Mawr Polo Grounds, a brilliant musical event will be carried out on a bigger scale than has ever been attempted on the Main Line before.

It will be given under the auspices of the Main Line Auxiliaries of the Seamen's Church Institute, under the direction of Prof. Clarence C. Niece.

The Narberth Choral Society, augmented to 100 voices, will render a very attractive program, and will be accompanied by 40 of the picked members of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Josephine Luchese, Prima Donna of the San Carlo Opera Company, and Sig. Carlo De Ritis will be the soloists. It was only through a great deal of influence being brought to bear that Luchese was secured for this performance.

She is the sensational coloratura soprano of the season, and many predict a greater future for her than even Galli-Curei has had. She is called by the "San Francisco Call and Post" "a nightingale, an Orchid, a woman."

The "New York Sun" said, "Miss Luchese advanced through a prodigious program of operatic arias and songs, which would have taxed the powers of a Tetraxini or a Galli-Curei, but which left this talented young singer absolutely undisturbed by the proceedings."

The "Denver Record" says: "Here is a voice of crystalline clearness, limpid facile, absolutely true to pitch at all times, and under all conditions fresh and sparkling as the morning dew, of brilliant tonal quality and handled with an ease that was as refreshing as the voice itself."

Tickets range in price as follows: $1.00 for general admission, $2.00, $2.50 (middle section), $3.00 for grandstand seats, and $5.00 for box seats, and as they are selling very fast, should be secured as soon as possible. Phone Narberth 627 W.

Choral Notes

The Choral's last concert which was given at the High School, Saturday, April 21st, was enjoyed by a small but appreciative audience. Though the program was of necessity changed at the last moment due to the serious illness of Miss Contino, the assisting soloist, the result was up to the usual Choral standard. Mrs. Gertrude Pschodm Gold offered a very acceptable substitute for Miss Contino, and handled the difficult aria and recitative from "Il Trovatore" with a pleasing effect. Her other numbers were equally well received and she was most liberal with her encores.

The Choral numbers were more or less light and were possibly more enjoyed on that account though it cannot be said that they attained the height and sweep they did in the Winter Concert with the majestic choruses from "Faust." The male chorists work was well received and should appear more often in their programs. The whole program gave evidence of a vast amount of careful work on the part of the members and also the musical director.

The question of continuing the Choral Society next season is now being placed before the people of the Borough in the form of a pledge which is being offered to everybody for signature. This pledge reads as follows:

"I am interested in the work of the Narberth Choral Society and desire to see it continue. Toward this end I will subscribe for Sustaining (or) Associate Membership next season (1923-24) unless unforeseen circumstances make it impossible, and pay for my subscription on or before November 1st, 1923."

If two hundred subscriptions can be obtained on the foregoing pledge, the work can be continued and a successful season assured. Consider what this organization means to the community and to the reputation of Narberth outside the borough limits and put your signature on the dotted line when the pledge is presented to you.

Rehearsal at the Y. M. C. A. next Monday as usual and all previous active members are urged to come out for the June concert.

"QUIG" ANOTHER LOCAL THEATRICAL SUCCESS

Another notable success was added to the imposing record of the current season when the Young People's Society of the Baptist Church presented the comedy "Quig" last Saturday evening at the Church. Honors were shared fairly evenly between the members of the All Star Cast. Miss Alice Maltby played the part of Quig's mother with exceptional ability. Edwin Coggeshall appeared as Quig's father, while the part of the central character, Quig, was well portrayed by Charles Kremer.

John Hillegas distinguished himself in the part of a small town "character," and the remainder of the cast, Miss Verna Maltby, Beth Houston, Gertrude Carter, Charlotte Super, and Charles Pefer, carried their respective parts with distinction.

There was an abundance of local color and the production was mirth provoking from beginning to end. It was pronounced by an enthusiastic audience as one of the very best ever seen in Narberth.

After the final curtain Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Knapp, who directed the production, were surprised recipients, respectively, of a large box of chocolates and an exquisite bouquet presented by the cast.

Senior Play Is Next Week's Big Event In Narberth

Mrs. Temple's Telegram At School Auditorium

The Senior Class of Narberth High School will present the farce, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," in the auditorium of the school on Friday evening, May 11th, with the following cast:

Jack Temple.....Gerald Sperry
Frank Fuller.....Thomas Manning
Captain Sharpe.....Walton Foote
Wigson.....Ed Gillilan
John Brown.....Donald Brown
Mrs. Jack Temple.....Dorothy Bottoms
Dorothy, Mrs. Temple's sister, Elizabeth Jones

Mrs. Frank Fuller.....Marion Miller
Mrs. Brown.....Mabel Kirkpatrick

The story deals with the complications arising from the impersonation of a supposedly fictitious individual, by a friend of an unfortunate husband, who, in order to disarm the suspicions of a jealous wife, resorts to this stratagem. Interwoven with this is the love affair of Sharpe and Dorothy.

Temple, through an incident over which he has no control, is obliged to spend the night away from home, thereby arousing the suspicions of Mrs. Temple. His truthful explanation appears absurd to her and in order to allay her suspicions he resorts to the expedient of inventing a tale of spending the night with a friend unknown to Mrs. Temple. The latter demands the name of the supposed friend which is given as "Brown," asking him to call on her. Temple and his friend Fuller discover the message on a blotter, and Fuller, who is not known to Mrs. Temple, agrees to impersonate Brown and vouch for the truth of Temple's tale.

It so falls out that there is a real Brown who receives the telegram, and assuming that Mrs. Temple had planned a flirtation with him, calls upon her and, since she has already had Fuller presented to her as Brown, she regards the true Brown as an impostor and treats him accordingly.

The complication is increased by the fact that Mrs. Brown discovers the telegram sent to her husband by Mrs. Temple and accuses the latter of attempting to flirt with the true Brown. The plot thickens still further when Mrs. Fuller appears on the scene as the woman, unknown by name to Temple, who had been the innocent and unwilling sharer in the incident that compelled Temple to spend the night abroad.

The threads are finally untangled and the threads are finally untangled and the atmosphere cleared when all parties decide to tell the truth.

Unlike most farcical comedies, Mrs. Temple's Telegram has an ingeniously complicated plot. It is rapid in action, abounds in humor and maintains a keen dramatic interest to the very end. The parts are all good acting parts and well diversified.

Tickets for the play may be obtained from members of the class or at the door the evening of the play.

COMMUNITY CLUB HAS AN ALL-AMERICAN MEETING

American music and American poetry captured the audience and made the Community Club meeting on last Tuesday a round of patriotism.

Beginning with two violin solos by McDowell, played by Mrs. Lewis W. Eashby, and ending with Dvorak's interpretation of American life as shown in the themes of the new World Symphony the program was All-American.

Mrs. Robert F. Wood reviewed Marguerite Wilkinson's "New Voices," reading from Amy Lowell, The Bible, Robert Frost, Vachel Lindsey, Rupert Brooke and Walter de la Mare, to show the symbolic way of expressing thought and to show how even a kitchen chair or rusty nail may be made beautiful.

Mrs. Wood ended her talk by quoting that "Anyone who enters into the joys and sorrows of other people can read and enjoy poetry."

Miss Spencer, a talented elocutionist from Philadelphia, read from two of the well known American poets, Paul Lawrence Dunbar and Vachel Lindsey. Miss Spencer chose three of Dunbar's in dialect and one in English; one by Riley, and from Vachel Lindsey she read "General Booth Enters Into Heaven," and "Empty Boats."

Mrs. W. L. Army, Mrs. T. N. Butler, Mrs. Horton Williamson, Mrs. J. A. Hengler and Mrs. H. I. Ruch sang with religious fervor two old negro songs, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I Feel," and "Hard Trials."

The election of a Board of Directors resulted in the selection of the following to serve for two years—Mrs. C. P. Fowler, Mrs. E. C. Batehlor, Mrs. W. M. Sibley, Mrs. M. F. Alexander.

The next and last meeting of the Club year will be held on May 15. This will be a Luncheon for members only. Everyone will have a jolly time, so don't forget to let Mrs. E. H. Cockrill know if you want a place reserved at the tables. This will be one of the Club's famous 50 cent luncheons.

Mrs. H. Weigand gave a party on May 4th in honor of her sister, Miss Marion Bryan's seventeenth birthday.

Mrs. H. Ronald Paige was the recipient of a surprise birthday party on Monday last.

SOMEWHAT CROWDED

Once again "Our Town" had to pound the contents of the paper in with a ram in order to get everything on the four pages. Despite the smaller type, it has been a task.

Unfortunately, we are not financially able to swing more than one six-pager at this season, and so have been obliged to "trim" more than ever before in our history.

Next week promises to be the last of this over-loading of the advertising columns, and we will be able to spread our into our more easily readable type.

The one fact apparent from the present overload is that efforts will soon have to be made to make this community paper a six-page affair.

If the proper cooperation is forthcoming, as we feel sure it will, "Our Town" will make its second big jump in size next fall. A bigger paper means that we must have more news, and that people of Narberth will have to do more, in order to make the news.

It also means that more of our members must use "Our Town" as their advertising medium. This should not be difficult in the face of the high circulation. We have hopes.

The growth of the paper, and the growth of the town run pretty well hand-in-hand. Let's both grow.

THOMAS M. CULBERTSON

Mr. Thomas M. Culbertson, Uncle Tom, as he was so affectionately called by the children "on the hill," as well as by the older people, passed out of this life Saturday night, April 28. His departure was calm, like the constantly decreasing whirl of a motor, until it dies away in the distance, contrasting vividly with the storm raging without at the time, evidence that a supreme power able to rock the world can also lead a soul gently into eternity.

Mr. Culbertson, at the time of his death, was a member of the Volunteer Firemen's Relief Association of Philadelphia, having "run with the engine" of the Spring Garden Hose Co. at a time when the Volunteer Firemen fought for his Company, and vie with each other for supremacy.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, May 2, at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Elmer L. Stapp, 220 Wayne Ave., service being conducted by Rev. A. S. Walls, minister of the Methodist Church, where Mr. Culbertson attended since coming to Narberth, assisted by Rev. Avery S. Demmy, of the Baptist Church, pastor to the family of Mrs. Stapp, with which denomination they are affiliated.

The body now rests in Mr. Peace Cemetery, Philadelphia, symbolic of the eternal rest in the mansion which Christ, his Saviour, has gone to prepare for him. His last thoughts were of Mother, and may his example in visualizing Mother beckoning him from the other shore, in his 79th year, be an inspiration during this week (Boy Week), and an incentive in the future for every individual to meet his obligation in this community for the uplift of our fellow men, have some part in the coming of the Kingdom of God on earth, and in the songs of final triumph.

I WENT to the last DANCE of the Tennis Club AND I SAW beautiful ladies YELL, groomed men, and I HEARD swell music. MANY were my visits to the NORTHEAST corner of the hall WHERE a gentleman of color DISPENSED a liquid of ROSY hue, but strictly a la MR. VOLSTEAD. SO GOOD was my time I HAVE decided to be among THOSE present at the NEXT dance Friday MAY 18TH, as I know I ONLY pass this way once THEREFORE it behooves me NOT to miss even one of these DELIGHTFUL affairs which I UNDERSTAND are for members AND their friends, and I hope YOU receive an invitation, ALSO hope to see you THERE. I thank you.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Collum Righter

GARDEN TIPS

In early May, for two weeks at least, blossoms are overhead. Cherry-bloom is passing, covering the ground with snow-flakes; April blossoms are opening and the green landscape is wreathed in snowy fruit trees and piles of rubbish. This is the ambitious humber-bees' season of revelry and devilry, when thousands of them hover amid the blossoms in a grand droning chorus (with apologies to the Choral Society) and sip from perfumed chalices, and after having sipped themselves blue in the face they stagger off on two cylinders to hide in porch chair cushions where sedate folks sit on them in error and rise to chant their sore displeasure in seven foreign languages, including the Scandinavian.

May is also the time of fairest shrubs and of bird-song, also bird-seed. But not until the end of the month is the gardener's dream realized. Personally, our gardener's dream has always been a thoroughbred night mare. To illustrate, after a strenuous day, at it once last August, we awoke at two the next morning under the horrible impression we were traversing Haverford Avenue arrayed in a voluminous nightgown and one sock, with an assembly of some two hundred town-folk in full dress lining the side walks and jeering at us.

TREATMENT OF HARDY PLANTS

Probably by the close of May's first week nearly all hardy plants are above the ground. If this is the case, finish digging in the Winter's covering of manure. If it is not the case, do not. One of the fundamental rules of successful gardening is never to waste manure. If you feel like it, rake off some of it and keep it for mulching. Lilies but on no account waste it. Wilful waste makes woeful want, you know. Remember Lily's mulch. It is far more important than the Alamo.

You can safely transplant hardy things until the fifteenth provided you have any. Should you do it, fill the holes with pure water and water the plants assiduously afterwards. To save expense an ordinary watering pot or garden hose may be used for the purpose instead of an assiduous. We have found them perfectly satisfactory though they will not fold up as easily.

One important thing to keep in mind is that Summer things planted in the Spring will not flower in the Summer as well as if the Spring is drier than the Summer before the Spring in which the Summer things were planted. We were ten years learning the application of this rule which is perfectly simple if concentration is mixed with the soil in portions of two and two and a half.

In the event of the season being dry, soak thoroughly and mulch. We do not know what, but soak and mulch anyway, being careful to use old leaves and dry ones. These may readily be obtained from The Community Library. Soaking must be done. Regardless of what else you do, soak! And soak with care! Slight sprinkling is utterly useless save in connection with clothes about to be ironed. Do your soaking not earlier than 4 P. M. You would not want the sun to prevent your dear plants from getting fully soaked would you? Of course not! As a matter of fact you would like to be fully soaked once more yourself, wouldn't you? Bathor! Very well then.

PESTS

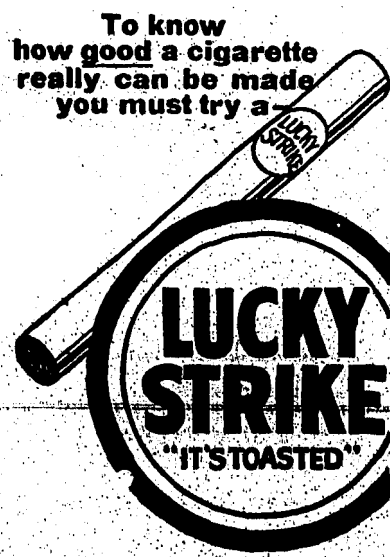

They may be allowed full run of the garden, only do not let them demolish newly set out seedlings by trampling on them. We have found the conventional sand box with a few toys therein to be their special delight. Should they prove to be getting totally unmanageable the problem is easily solved by moving the sand box to the front porch and installing a collapsible gate at the steps to hinder their running away.

CHILDREN

The remedy for these is whale oil soap, kerosene, water or arsenical poisons. They must be carefully watched. We strongly advocate knocking the destructive things into a tin pan full of a mixture of air slaked lime and white lead and burning the whole business in the kitchen range. This is an admirable way to keep them off your estate.

METHODIST BOWLERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

The Inter-Church Bowling League closed its schedule on Thursday night, April 26th, when the final play-off games between the Methodist and Baptist teams were held. The Methodists won two of the three games and therefore win the championship. The Baptists put up a stiff fight, but were unable to overcome their opponents.

until the final game. Smith, with a score of 197, was high man for the night. These games ended the first season of the Inter-Church League, which proved very successful. The League was instituted with the double purpose of providing recreation for the participants and for creating a spirit of fellowship among the men of the various Churches. The results have been all that could be hoped for as can be vouched for by any who witnessed the games. While the scores may not have averaged as high as a good many leagues, the rivalry was keen and many of the games were very close. All the games drew a crowd of spectators who followed them with much enthusiasm.

ROSES FOR OUTDOOR PLANTING

Cultural Notes

The cultivation of Hybrid Tea Roses is as follows:

The Soil. The soil which best suits the Rose is a deep, unctuous loam, with free drainage, as Roses do not thrive where there is stagnant moisture. If these conditions are not to be had naturally, they must, as far as possible, be provided. In the first place, if drainage is bad, the soil must be thrown out to a depth of 18 inches, and, if it is not convenient to use tiles, about 5 or 6 inches of broken bricks or other rough material should be thrown in the bottom, and a layer of turf laid on top, grassy side down. On the top of the turf should be placed a layer of well-decayed farm-yard manure, then a light layer of soil, and another layer of manure, on top of which should be placed the remainder of the soil, to which, if light and sandy, should be added a liberal supply of well-chopped-up turf, raising the whole of the bed to a height of about 12 inches above the original level of the soil. In case of heavy land, a layer of lime rubble should be added, as this will help to sweeten the soil.

Planting should be deferred until the soil is in proper condition to receive the plants, as it is a great mistake to plant in wet soil. Teas and Hybrid Teas should be planted about 18 inches apart, and the Hybrid Perpetuals 2 feet apart, keeping all manure away from direct contact with the roots when planting. Firm the soil well around the plants and give a thorough watering.

Pruning. All the short, prematurely ripened wood and all small shoots should be cut clean away, leaving just the strongest shoots, from 4 to 6 inches long. Pruning should be done immediately after the plants are set out, if it has not been previously done. If Pillar and Climbing Roses close pruning does not apply to the Hardy Climbers or Ramblers; these should be shortened back if they have grown beyond their allotted space and thin out the very small shoots.

Protection. Before the ground freezes solid the soil should be pulled up around the base of the plants, 7 or 8 inches, and the surface of the bed afterward well covered with dried leaves or corn-stalks. When so protected, even the most tender varieties of Hybrid Tea Roses are entirely hardy as far north as Winnipeg.

Insects. Caterpillars and Rose Grubs are the worst pests that attack roses, and these should be destroyed by hand picking when they first appear. Green flies are also troublesome in most sections, but if the plants are syringed carefully with a solution of soft soap in the proportion of one pound to six gallons of water with some tobacco dust added to the same it will be found effective.

Mildew. This will appear on rose plants in the early autumn or during the summer if the weather is very, very wet. The best preventative is Sulphide of Potassium used in the proportion of one-quarter ounce to a gallon of water and sprayed on the foliage once a week, when the mildew first makes its appearance.

Big Man in Audience (turning around)—"Can't you see anything?"

A "super"-milk without an equal!

That sums up the quality of Ayrshire Milk—the product of the Penshurst Farms.

Penshurst Inspected Raw Ayrshire Milk not only compares favorably with the best certified milk, but is produced under standards much higher than those required for certified milk or for any grade of inspected milk.

This super milk comes from a herd of 200 registered Ayrshire cattle, the first herd in Pennsylvania to be fully accredited tuberculosis free by the Bureau of Animal Industry of Pennsylvania and the U. S. and now fully accredited for the fourth consecutive year.

Employees of Penshurst Farms are inspected regularly by Dr. E. C. Town, of Narberth, and are required to pass tests more rigid than are required for certified milk.

The cattle at Penshurst Farms are fed on alfalfa grown on the farm and cured by cock and cap methods, assuring an alfalfa rich in vitamins.

Ayrshire Milk is a perfect food as it comes from the cows. It needs no modifying, as its high quality ingredients are perfectly proportioned to the needs of the human body.

It is bottled on the farm promptly after milking and distributed just as promptly by Scott-Powell.

Ayrshire Milk of this class is sold in Boston and throughout New England at 35c per quart—here for much less.

If you want to make sure of the quality of your milk ask these questions:

Is it produced from a fully accredited herd?

Is it bottled and sealed on the farm?

The milk control office—Board of Health, Ardmore, Bell Phone, Ardmore 1810, will answer your questions about milk produced or sold in this district.

BOY'S WEEK CELEBRATED AT SPECIAL SERVICE

Boy's Week in Narberth was formally opened last Sunday evening by a special service at the Baptist Church which was attended by the local Scout Troop in a body. Scout Master Patten and about thirty members of the troop contributed to one of the most impressive services of the kind ever held in Narberth. The program consisted of a brief address by Mr. Ralph O. Claypool, who has just recently been elected Director of the Boy's Work Department of the Baptist Church who outlined the plans of the new Department which will be conducted very much along the Scout plan, and represents, so far as is known, a new departure in Church organization.

Scout Master Patten spoke on various phases of the Scout Work, presenting the Troop in the "Alliance to the Flag" and the Scout Oath.

Rev. Avery S. Demmy concluded the program with a brief and extremely interesting "Message of Today to the Men of Tomorrow."

OUR TOWN

THE NEW MAGAZINES

"Magazine Arrival" Bulletin is Hung at the Library

The magazines for May have begun to arrive at the Library as indicated by the "Magazine Arrival" bulletin which hangs on the wall in the magazine corner. The arrivals so far include the "Bookman," "John Martin's Magazine," and the "House Beautiful." These three magazines are on the regular subscription list of the Library and are available for reading on each Library day. They are also kept on file in the reference department, and may be obtained by asking for them at the desk or by inquiring of Mrs. Donnelly, the reference librarian.

"The House Beautiful" this month is the spring furnishing number, and carries many charming, as well as practical, suggestions for beautifying the home. The cover, by Clayton Knight, is especially interesting with its fireplace flanked by settles and topped by an old ship's model. The cover competition offers made by "The House Beautiful" this year have resulted in a succession of very artistic covers, which have added much to the value of the magazine. The table of contents include articles on bookcases and bookshelves, on lampshades, on arbors in the garden, and on needle tapestry.

"The International Studio" is another magazine to which the Library subscribes. This magazine is devoted entirely to art and is one of the most beautiful on the table. It was purchased at the suggestion of the Art Department of which Mrs. Bachelier is chairman. Each number has an unusually attractive cover in color and at least one full page color plate. The magazine is well illustrated in black and white, and carries interesting articles on the modern tendency in art. Every one who is interested in this phase of culture will find delight in each issue of the magazine.

"The National Geographic," perhaps the most popular magazine of all, the "Literary Review," the "Ladies' Home Journal," the "Woman's Home Companion," "Scribner's" and "Harper's" are also found regularly on the table.

The new "Magazine Arrival" bulletins have been prepared by Mrs. Donnelly, and hang in the magazine corner near the table to indicate the arrival of each magazine. One bulletin announces the magazines received during the past month, and the other announces the magazines arriving for the current month.

There is also a magazine table for the children, but theirs needs no advertising, as it is often difficult to find even standing room near it.

MODELS OF SMALL GARDENS TO BE EXHIBITED AT MEMORIAL BUILDING

Those wishing to plan a new garden or remodel an old one will find splendid suggestions in the six models of small gardens made by residents of the community and loaned to the Little Garden Day Sale. These models were shown and won prizes at the National Flower Show, New York, and are complete in every detail. They include a house, garage, flower garden, drying grounds and vegetable garden.

After May 10th it is safe to transplant tender vegetable and flower plants. The sale has therefore been arranged for that date. Experts will be on hand to give advice on planting and booklets for beginners will be sold.

An added attraction will be the music by the Haverford College band during the tea hours, from four until six. In case of rain the sale will be held on the next clear day.

Mrs. R. C. Hoffman, Chairman of the Narberth booth, will have many novelties on sale. Pink is the color of the booth decorations. Pink baskets to carry plants will make it easier for Narberth residents to take their purchases home in the bus or in automobiles.

One's Coop was an unsurpassed vehicle for historic hilarity of a top-notch order. Henry Smith depicted in a masterly and mirthful fashion the high points of the French doctor's well-known dissertations, while the heroic treatment applied by his zealous assistants, Amos and Jake, personified by Case and Kerigan, left nothing to be desired except the iodine which had to be applied to the affected parts before the patient retired into their downy beds on the show evenings. The spectacular anatomical display afforded by Sebastian Rudolph will be the subject of a special article in next week's "Our Town," when a graphic illustration will be published together with an explanatory code which will elucidate once and for all the many mooted points which have arisen in connection with the exhibition. It seems to be the consensus of the community that the slapstick should have been administered irrespective of the consequences.

The splendid music was under the direction of Thomas A. Quinn, who disregarded the numerous calls which are always made for the evenings of a pulchritudinous bachelor and gave his time unsparringly to accomplish the delightful results which were manifest.
